

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A device and method for controlling the temperature of a plasma chamber inside wall or other surfaces exposed to the plasma by a plurality of temperature control systems. A plasma process within the plasma chamber can be controlled by independently controlling the 5 temperature of segments of the wall or other surfaces.